

SEN and Inclusion Policy

This policy was updated in December 2023

The policy must be reviewed and updated at least every 12 months

The purpose of this policy is to guide all staff in best practice to ensure that every child with special educational needs and disabilities in Meadowbrook College can achieve well with confidence and independence.

Definition of Special Educational Needs or Disabilities (SEND)

A child or young person has a special educational need if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for them. A difficulty or disability may be identified if a child of compulsory school age:

- a. has a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others the same age; or
- b. has a disability which prevents or hinders them from making use of educational facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools

Our core purpose is to achieve the best outcomes for all of the students accessing the Radcliffe Academy Trust and their families.

Contextual Information

Meadowbrook College is an Alternative Provision Academy meeting the needs of young people in Oxfordshire aged between 5 and 16 years. Our statutory requirement is to work with students who are unable to benefit from, or access mainstream school due to: social, emotional and behavioural difficulties, being at risk of permanent exclusion or having been permanently excluded. We also provide alternative vocational provision for students in year 9, 10 and 11 for other mainstream or specialist schools.

Objectives

At Meadowbrook College we have high expectations of all our students, including those with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND). We encourage all of our students, including those with SEND to become independent, so that they are well prepared for their futures and have increased opportunities in their lives, including future education and employment. We recognise that to achieve these high expectations, inclusive and high quality teaching and learning is essential for all students, including those with a special need or disability.

Keeping parents fully informed and involved in their children's education is an integral part of ensuring a students' success and in ensuring a shared understanding of desired outcomes. We also aim to involve young people in their own educational decision making. This is achieved through regular communication of progress and attainment through tutorials and mentoring, communication with parents and termly progress reports.

Meadowbrook College Aims to:

- Ensure all students receive appropriate educational provision through a broad, balanced, relevant curriculum that is suitably adapted to meet individual educational needs and demonstrates coherence and progression in learning;
- Identify, assess, record, plan, deliver, evaluate and review students needs and progress so that they can benefit from education, and to involve young people in this process;
- Operate an inclusive approach to the management and provision of support for special educational needs in line with the belief that by educating young people together and modelling inclusive attitudes we can create an environment where young people accept and include one another;
- Ensure that every child with SEND gets the support that they need to progress in all aspects of their learning and development and to work collaboratively with external professionals who can offer additional expertise where necessary;
- Provide a Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Coordinator (SENDCo) Kathryn Cooper;
- Provide consistent and frequent support and advice for all staff around special educational needs students and ensure that staff have the support and training needed to teach children with SEND in line with their responsibilities under the Children and Families Act 2014;
- Provide support and advice to parents, carers and students and actively develop and maintain partnership and high levels of engagement with parents;
- Provide strategies for students with SEND to manage their learning difficulties and disabilities so that they are able to learn independently and make progress;
- Ensure access to the curriculum and activities for all students and ensure all students are able to benefit from the provision offered and are not discriminated in any way;
- Prevent, and where necessary challenge discrimination and bullying of children with SEND in our schools;

- Promote individual confidence and develop positive, independent learning behaviours;
- Provide a safe environment to accommodate all the above aims.

Identifying Special Educational Needs

Meadowbrook College acknowledges the importance of early identification of students who may have special educational needs in order to ensure early intervention. Assessment is regarded as a continuing process. The purpose of identification is to work out what action the school needs to take, not to fit a student into a category. We aim to identify the needs of each student by considering the needs of the whole child, not just their special educational needs.

There are four broad categories of need as described in the SEND Code of Practice:

Communication and Interaction - Including students with speech, language and communication needs (SLCN) and students with ASD, including Asperger's Syndrome and Autism.

Cognition and Learning - Including moderate learning difficulties (MLD; characterised by students learning at a slower pace than their peers), severe learning difficulties (SLD; characterised by profound and multiple learning difficulties (PMLD)), and specific learning difficulties (SpLD; which encompasses a range of conditions such as dyslexia, dyscalculia and dyspraxia).

Social Emotional and Mental Health - These difficulties could manifest themselves in many ways including; becoming withdrawn, displaying challenging, disruptive or disturbing behaviour, underlying mental health issues and disorders such as ADD, ADHD, Conduct Disorder and attachment disorder.

Sensory and/or Physical needs - Including students with visual impairment (VI), hearing impairment (HI), multi-sensory impairment (MSI) and a physical disability (PD).

We are aware that that a number of factors may impact on the progress and attainment of students, including: issues with attendance and punctuality, health and welfare, having EAL (English as an Additional Language), being in receipt of student Premium and being a LAC (Looked After Child), however these students may not necessarily have special educational needs.

Although student assessments are dynamic and continuous, initial testing of all students is undertaken within the first few weeks to gain baseline data. This includes The Boxall Profile Online, this was originally used to assess the social, emotional and mental health needs of children and young people in small groups or whole-setting assessment.

When used across the whole-school the Boxall Profile Online is able to uncover undiscovered moderate SEMH needs in students. Boxall enables schools to create individualised, and achievable targets for social and emotional aptitudes for the child which are reviewed and re-assessed periodically.

Other assessments include spelling and reading tests, and baseline maths and English assessments. QCA and/or SDQ questionnaires are completed for some students. Assessments are ongoing and dependent on what programme the student is on, the length of time they are with us and the appropriateness of this for each individual young person.

Additional testing is also undertaken following concerns raised by parents/carers and staff. Observations and assessments carried out by staff will be used as part of the identification and assessment procedure. The views, concerns and observations of parents/carers are important and we endeavour to be responsive to and account for any expressions of concerns raised. We also prioritise the importance of students views in informing the identification of their particular needs.

We have access to the Educational Psychologist service who support further assessments and exam concessions. We are supported by the Specialist CAMHS service with our more complex students and those that have been referred to the service. We also have an Art Therapist, who works across Bases to support students where a need is identified.

A Graduated Approach to SEND Support

Meadowbrook College regularly reviews the quality of teaching for all students and aims to improve the teachers' understanding of the strategies to identify and support vulnerable learners.

Teachers are responsible and accountable for the progress and development of the students in their class, including where students access additional support from a learning mentor or other specialist staff. High quality inclusive teaching is the first step in responding to students who have or may have SEND.

Class sizes are usually six students with one adult. Classes can be adapted so that those that require additional support can be taught together. Student Profiles are in place for all students providing assessment information, where present, as well as support strategies and student voice.

The Four Part Cycle

Assess: the assessments undertaken initially will be recorded, along with any initial observations made (including observations by parents/carers and the student)

Plan: the targets and objectives will be identified and agreed with the student. Additional provision will be planned using the assessment information in order to plan an individualised programme for the student. Teachers will outline the activities to be taken and the personnel who will be responsible for the activity. Clear criteria will be written in order to assess the impact of the interventions. Parents/carers will be made aware of the plan.

Do: the interventions will be undertaken by the relevant staff.

Review: the success of the intervention will be considered with regard to the criteria in order to assess the impact. As a result of the review, the plan will be adjusted or amended accordingly. If it is felt that further advice is required at this stage, advice from specialist teachers, health professionals and/or the Educational Psychologist will be sought following consultation with parents/carers.

EHCP (Education and Health Care Plan) Assessment

In line with local authority procedures, evidence could be collated to apply for an EHCP particularly in view of the support required to ensure a successful transition to their next school, college or place of training.

Where students are on Single Role, regular reviews will be held for students with an EHC Plan considering all aspects of student progress and liaising with involved agencies. For our dual-role students, we will work with Home Schools to support the completion of EHCPs where students transition to us whilst an EHCP is in progress and will support the completion of EHCPs as requested by ourselves or Home School.

Roles & Responsibilities

The Headteacher is responsible for the overall management and support for Children with Special Educational Needs and for keeping Meadowbrook College Trustees informed about provision. The Headteacher will work closely with the SENDCo to ensure effective day to day provision.

All staff are included in recording and reviewing student progress through our reporting cycle carried out termly. All staff are responsible for working to enable young people to be independent in their learning as outlined in their EHCP. In reviewing our curriculum we will continue to monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of the curriculum offered to students with SEND.

Admissions

All students will have an induction meeting before beginning their education with Meadowbrook College to ensure a supportive transition. The SENDCO will attend and support with inductions where there are complex SEND needs. Parents will be included in the planning for their child. Staff and students will review student Profiles on a termly basis under the direction of the Base and Team Leads.

Transition back to school

When students transition back to their Home School, or are part of a managed move, we will work collaboratively with schools to ensure a supportive transition takes place appropriate to individual student's needs. Dates for home-school visits and transition meetings will be determined in the planning process and dates shared with all relevant stakeholders.

Curriculum

All students at Meadowbrook College in KS4 will follow the core subjects of Maths, English, Personal and Social Development and Employability as a minimum expectation. Staff will take account of Special Educational Needs and this will be reflected in their planning which will also highlight adaptive learning tasks. Where appropriate, students will have access to educational visits, sports and leisure activities to supplement the curriculum. All students have an individualised timetable which focuses on the core subjects but also their chosen options and chosen technical learning course.

Complaints
